The company, formed in 1966, operates as the world's leading manufacturer and retailer of custom clothing. Serving more than 500,000 international clients, Tom James' success is built upon providing its clients with the very finest in luxurious custom clothing; the knowledge and expertise of highly trained clothiers and convenient on-site service.

Custom Clothing

Tom James offers both men's and women's custom clothing, including suits, sport coats, trousers, outerwear and shirts. Currently, the company features three collections of men's suits — Classic, Italian and British. Each collection includes four lines with various price points and ready-made options.

- ❑ Topping the Classic collection is the custom Ventura line. Comprised of woolens primarily from England, Scotland and Italy, the suits are constructed with 100-percent silk threads and feature smooth, supple shoulder lines.
- ❑ Leading the Italian collection is the Sartoria line. Each Sartoria creation is conceived after a hand-drafted paper pattern is designed for each garment. Hand-sewn and comprised of natural fibers, Sartoria suits showcase the true detail of Italian clothing.

- Tom James' British collection features the finest cloths of Holland & Sherry, located on London's famous Savile Row. With a 150-year history, Holland & Sherry is one of the finest cloth manufacturing houses in the world. The Holland & Sherry — Bespoke sits atop the Tom James British collection. The suit is hand-sewn using century-old techniques — the essential characteristic of an authentic bespoke Savile Row garment.

Tom James' women's custom suit line provides ladies with the opportunity to distinguish themselves in the workforce with a variety of distinct suit designs and selections from hundreds of cloth colors and patterns. In addition, suit options include different cuts of jackets, pants and skirts to suit the wearer's body type.

Custom shirts also define the luxury associated with the Tom James brand. Men and women can choose from a multiple number of cloth options for shirts that are measured and fitted for only their bodies. Plus on the men's side, individuals can detail their shirts with different collars, cuffs, pockets and monograms. Furthermore, Tom James clients also have access to quality sportswear, outerwear and accessories.

Highly Trained Clothiers

A major component of the Tom James experience is the client's interaction with their personal clothier. Tom James has more than 450 clothiers worldwide dedicated to servicing their clients' clothing needs. Each clothier receives nearly 300 hours of training per year in various aspects of the fashion arena, including fabrics, style, patterns, colors and customization. Tom James' clothiers assist clients in the planning, coordinating and maintaining of their wardrobes so they are properly attired for any situation — business, casual, social or formal.

On-Site Service

Tom James' clothiers provide clients with on-site service — whether at the office or at home, appointments take place at the client's location of choice. This practice affords clients more time to meet their business and personal demands for time. During appointments, clothiers share new styles and trends, as well as review their client's wardrobe needs for updates or any upcoming events such as a formal cocktail reception, an important business meeting or family vacation. When a purchase is made, the clothier collects the client's measurements, styling information and details to submit the order. The clothier will return for a second fitting to make sure the custom- or ready-made garment fits precisely. All completed orders are delivered directly to the client.
