

Layering Luxe

Tips on using layered knitwear to create warm and stylish looks for fall

---

Cashmere and Merino Sweaters

Cashmere and Merino classics never go out of style and are the cornerstone of your fall casual wardrobe. Crews, v-necks and sweater vests in traditional solids are staples for casual days at the office and weekends. They look great with jeans, corduroys and khakis, and can be worn in a variety of ways, from a T-shirt underneath to a button-down sport shirt.

Zip and Button-Up Mocks

Zip and button-up mocks can be worn with everything, from sport coats to great casual trousers, like corduroys. They will add warmth with a stylish twist and are considered today's most versatile layering piece. They are great for travel on an airplane, as they come off and on very easily.

Mock Turtlenecks, Crew Necks and Polo Knits

Mock turtlenecks, crew necks and polo knits are a great alternative to a sport shirt. They effortlessly dress down a sport coat and look great with any casual trouser.

---

Cable Knit Sweaters

Elegant and timeless, cable knit sweaters are the mark of distinction for the traditional casual wardrobe.

---

Fleece and Luxury Cotton Sweatshirts

Fleece and luxury cotton sweatshirts are always a warm, comfortable choice for an active weekend day.

